

The Town of Lenox Board reviews and updates their Local Laws & Zoning as needed. Just this year, there have been changes made to the Zoning Laws regarding Accessory Structures, PODS and most recently, a Hen Law was enacted in the Town.

Harboring of Hens is now permitted on an owner-occupied residential property of less than 5 acres, with a Permit. More information on this law & others can be found by going to Google & entering " Lenox ecode 360" ~ This entire new Hen law, along with other laws enacted in 2023, can be found under NEW LAWS, along with the entire Lenox Code Book.
